

SSH

Middle East

Needs

SSH, an Architecture & Engineering consultancy, needed a way to collaborate and control documents across its Middle East & Europe offices as well as integrate data and information from Deltek Vision. The goal of the organization was to get to the cloud and empower business users to use the system without the need for IT administration.

Solution

Using ProjectReady™ Central, SSH was able to meet business requirements for document control & program management while being able to leverage the Microsoft cloud and Office 365, which they already owned. This helped drive down costs and the learning curve of the new solution. Additionally, ProjectReady™ has been able to integrate their Deltek Vision data creating one coherent, unified system that allows them to leverage all their project data regardless of where it resides.

Competitive Differentiation: Newforma

- Fully Cloud based solution
- Lower IT administrative maintenance & costs
- “Self-Service” empowerment of business users
- Leveraged existing Microsoft Office 365 investment
- Low barrier to entry & exit

About ProjectReady™ Applications

In the age of the cloud and digital disruption, the information and documents you need to manage are increasingly all over the Enterprise – driving content chaos. But, the way you need to manage projects, collaborate and control the movement and approval of documents should always be the same, repeatable process. ProjectReady Central is designed to end the chaos by providing a modern, process driven solution to manage project information, across the enterprise, the same way every time.
