ProjectReady Use Case for Leading Program & Construction Management Organization

Needs

A leading Program & Construction Management organization based in Texas, needed a document control and program management solution that offered version control and workflow capabilities required to fully satisfy compliance and business needs. As a subsidiary of a multi-national company, the organization needed a system that required minimal IT support from its parent company.

Solution

Using ProjectReady provided workflow and compliance features not available previously without the need for advanced IT skills and support. This solution also allowed the organization to leverage the Microsoft cloud and Office 365, which they already owned helping drive down costs and the learning curve of the new solution. With ProjectReady™ Central, the organization is now easily able to handle program management as well as the management of Transmittals, RFI's & Submittals packages.

Why They Chose ProjectReady vs. Competition

- Lower Cost
- Superior document management features as provided by SharePoint & the Office 365 platform
- Lower IT administrative maintenance & costs
- "Self-Service" empowerment of business users
- Leveraged existing Microsoft Office 365 investment
- Low barrier to entry & exit
